Fire Is A Special State Of Matter: Vasant's Talks In Poland

"It is now acknowledged that every human cell has a magnetic field. However if x number of cells make a human body, y cells make a rabbit and z cells make a donkey the effect of the entity is much more and oriented differently from the mere adding of the magnetic fields of x, y and z respectively. This may mean there is another subtle matrix where these subtler than electromagnetic energies are manipulated. If we hypothesize one matrix we may as well hypothesize the probability of several such matrices each subtler than the one next to it. Then we can imagine the intra matrix and inter matrix resolutions of these effects as well as combined effects of groups of entities. Which is the driving force for these energies? Instead of looking at it from the point of view of linear cause effect relationship we may look at it from the multidimensional law of cause and effect which is the Law of Karma. Is there a mechanism to bring about changes in the content and functioning of these matrices? The answer is Yes. The answer is the science of Yajnya as given through Vedas of which Agnihotra is the basic process.

Fire is a special state of matter. Agnihotra fire acts as a catalyst to bring about beneficial change in Prana and the content of the mind and also mindstuff (Chitta in science of Kriya Yoga). This is how the matrices are beneficially affected. When the scientist will change his ideas of time, space, causation and look at an event as manifestation of the Law of Karma he will be able to unravel the mysteries of the universe. Then he will know the greatest of all sciences is the science of 'Who am I?' This is the fifth aspect of the Fivefold Path of which Agnihotra is the first aspect.

It is for you to find out how far you can use radionics and radiesthesia tools to note the diagnostic processes and therapeutic Yajnya (Homa Fire) measures to cure the disease. You may have to make a beginning with measuring the electromagnetic fields around some special trees and the change induced if any by Agnihotra in this field. Whatever be the outcome of this investigation we know from the point of view of phenomenology. We know that trees become happy, grow faster, produce better and also more by practice of Agnihotra. Then you may try to trace the subtle matrices and their functioning.

Using radiesthesia methods Agnihotra ash and Agnihotra atmosphere could also be tested. We may also enlarge the scope of these diagnostic tools by noting the comparison between the exposure of seeds and seedlings to electromagnetic fields of different frequencies and static fields and the effect brought about by Homa (Yajnya) Therapy Farming methods. Also the method of treating water used in a garden to electromagnetic fields of different frequencies and static fields and the treatment by practicing Homa (Yajnya) Therapy Farming methods could also be noted. If you feed this data to a time cost computer along with the data regarding suppression of weeds, biological sterilization of pests etc. you will see how Yajnya is the only way out for mankind.

Several speakers spoke about radiesthesia as a diagnostic and therapeutic tool for humans. However we must not forget the overall picture of wholistic health. Ultimate aim is to fill all the spheres with love. Love is the highest and most potent energy to prevent and cure a disease be it of the body or the mind. This Love can not be chemically induced or mechanically impregnated. However the alchemy of Agnihotra does both of these for us. Thus you eat the cake and still have it if you practice Yajnya of which Agnihotra is the basic form."

"Pollution does not recognize national frontiers. Today we hear alarming reports about forest trees falling on the borders of Czechoslovakia and East Germany on a large scale. We hear that new trees which are planted do not grow well and many do not grow at all. Acid rain has fallen in parts of Western Europe thus making the soil poisonous. More and more insects come and they become immune to insecticides, pesticides and also to cold. Hybrid insects have started breeding introducing new strains of monstrosity in creation. The lakes and also the oceans are polluted thus destroying the fish and marine plants. This has started affecting severely the oxygen carbon recycling system of nature. This is a grave threat to life on the planet.

"In this situation only science can help and nothing less than science will do. We have now to go back to the ancient science given in the Vedas. Homa Therapy is based on this ancient-most knowledge known to human race. Especially important now is the practice of Homa Therapy for agriculture on the one hand and setting up wholistic healing centers on the other. The cycles of nature are disturbed and they need to be reharmonized. Practice of Yajnya on a mass scale is the only way out. However here also the time has become crucial. We have to utilize this knowledge before it is too late."

Symposium On Bioenergy, And Radiasthesia; Warsaw, Poland

In September, 1981, the President of The Symposium On Bioenergy and Radiasthesia held in Warsaw, Poland had invited Vasant to speak on Agnihotra and Homa Energies. Vasant came to Warsaw from Frankfurt and I joined him within an hour of his arrival in Warsaw coming from Zurich. Mr. Stefanski, the President, greeted us at Warsaw airport with a sign on which the word Agnihotra was written in big letters. This is how we recognized him. Barbara, who acted as interpreter was also at the airport to greet us along with Mrs. Krzymowscy.

The same day a few people came to our hotel for sunset Agnihotra. All seemed to like it a lot and so I told them further about longer healing fires which could be done by a group for healing the atmosphere.

Next evening, a meeting was scheduled at the Palace of Culture and Science to explain Agnihotra and Homa Therapy. This thirty storied building was a gift from the Russians to the Polish people after the end of the Second World War and is centrally located.

The conference room was packed to capacity. Vasant explained how Yajnya (Homa Therapy) was the supreme need of the hour.

Sunset was nearing and this gave us the opportunity to demonstrate Agnihotra to the gathering. I made a good fire in the copper pyramid so that everyone could see. For fifteen minutes after Agnihotra people practiced silence and concentration exercise. Then I explained about the ingredients used in Agnihotra process. As at present butter and rice are scarce commodities in Poland I had to explain how to practice Agnihotra even with minimum quantities of these ingredients. I also told them how by practice of Agnihotra fire one could grow wonderful crops in a small area. I explained a few exercises which are taught in Homa Therapy Mind Training Classes and people seemed to appreciate them much. The immediate need of a Healing Center was also stressed. At the end of the meeting we asked who would want to begin practicing Agnihotra. Nearly everyone raised his hands. We know the message has penetrated the atmosphere. We decided to hold another meeting at the same place four days later which would be limited to those who immediately wanted to start the practice of Agnihotra.

6 The next day, several people came to our hotel to get more information about Homa Therapy and I was invited by our interpreter Barbara and her husband Andrzej, to their house to do sunset Agnihotra.

Next two days was the Symposium on Bioenergy and Radiesthesia. About six hundred people from different parts of Poland had gathered and thus it was a splendid opportunity for us to convey the message of Homa Therapy to the whole country. Mr. Stefanski had arranged an interpreter for Vasant and myself.

The symposium started one hour behind time and the president was concerned about not losing even a few minutes. However that day exactly at sunset Agnihotra was demonstrated to the audience. Vasant gave some introductory remarks about the ancient knowledge of healing fires from Vedas and I prepared the Agnihotra pyramid for the process. I was a bit nervous in the beginning as big floodlights were directed to me and the television cameraman came very close to record everything about Agnihotra in detail. It was for the first time that I did Agnihotra on the loudspeakers. However after Agnihotra I felt a strong calmness coming over me and so did the audience. People sat and meditated till the flame was out.

One of the delegates who was a dowser had a pendulum near the copper pyramid. In his own way he wanted to measure the concentration of negative ions around Agnihotra. His report stated that from an insignificant number they rose to over ten million. This person also felt the effect on his body. He was tired after sitting in for a whole day long series of lectures. He felt much refreshed and full of energy after Agnihotra.

Next morning was our turn to speak. Vasant spoke about the noted effects of subtle energies from the point of view of phenomenology and also from the point of view of causation as stated in ancient wisdom. I spoke of Yajnya (Homa) in terms of a basic therapeutic tool for body, mind and creation.

I explained the different applications of Agnihotra ash for curing disease.

After our lecture people crowded around us and it was just impossible for me to go to eat lunch. Many wanted exact instructions how to do Agnihotra. We had only 20 copper pyramids with us which were given away while many times that number wanted them. We suggested how they could make the pyramids in Poland.

During lunch hour I demonstrated another Homa with Om Tryambakam Mantra which we use for Homa Therapy Farming. I explained the importance of this healing fire and several people learned the Mantra immediately and joined me. During this time Vasant held personal talks.

We announced a meeting on Monday 21st September only for those who wanted to commence the practice of Agnihotra and learn the Mantras and how to do Agnihotra process. The venue was again the Palace of Culture and Science. About two hundred people came. Vasant gave some in depth briefing on Agnihotra as given in the Vedas and I performed Agnihotra exactly at sunset. After meditation I taught the Mantras and explained the various medicinal aspects of Agnihotra. The same night we visited the house of the symposium president Mr. Stefanski to thank him and his family for all the arrangements they made for us. Agnihotra has come to stay in Poland.

I told the conference delegates "Yajnya (Homa Therapy) increases the healing power of the healer and it also provides us a method which can be used on a mass scale as it is needed today. We perceive happiness and unhappiness through the medium of the mind and we need a tool to bring the mind to a state of total Love. Agnihotra is such a tool. It brings about a change in the atmosphere. This affects Prana which is connected with mind."

Suggested Experiments

8 When the sun rises colors start to appear above the horizon in sequential pattern—infrared, red, green etc. At the moment when half of the sun's disc is above the horizon a green ray becomes visible for a moment. This is positive green in terms of radiesthesia. So far some 30 pictures have been taken of this phenomenon. Taking such a photograph requires being on a calm sea at the level of water.

One Polish sailor has made such a photograph. I do not remember his name. It was published in the Polish weekly "Przekroj".

The Agnihotra copper pyramid flame acts like a lens, a big lens, focusing a good deal of energy at this green ray. Most likely then, a "connecting ray" is being created between the sun and Agnihotra fire and through this channel the positive green reaches this fiery lens.

In order to confirm it a person with a dowsing rod should stand in the vicinity of the Agnihotra fire. When the green ray appears, it should be detected by the rod. By using this method one can check the power of radiation and also how much it exceeds the standard power around the fire.

Several men with dowsing rods situated at various distances from the fire should be able to estimate the field of radiation if they do it simultaneously. In the next experiment instead of fire one can use mirrors that focus radiation. If there are results this will be another proof that the phenomenon is normal.

One may experiment also with reflectors made of wood provided their interiors are painted black.
