Science of Kriya Yoga

Only will and effort are the deciding factors and not the human judgment about what seems to be the result. It is not given to man to judge because his understanding is not qualified to do that.

On the Divine Path, the Path of Light (Devayana) all material actions serve only to make the matter ready for higher levels so that the connection to all levels becomes perfect. Every level is prepared by the corresponding discipline so that it takes the perfect shape of its state and can be connected to the next higher level and thus an interchange of energy takes place. As an example Agnihotra may be mentioned. Out of normal state of matter an ideal state of matter is produced which allows energy transformation out of a different level—Aum.

The will of a man is his signpost (giver of direction). Whatever he wishes towards that he moves. Thus man determines his destiny. The direction in which he makes the effort and also the length of the way he goes both count. So will and effort together bring about a special quantum of development in a particular direction. To apply this law consciously is the privilege of man which he should make use of. He should use his talents thus and work. Aum.

Do your Yajnyas as service for matter. The Yajnya fire on its part also serves you. Do your Yajnyas as a better instrument to increase the manifestation of subtle energy on grosser levels as it is Shree's will to approximate energetically again the earth more to Him and to raise its energy level. This happens most harmoniously with the help of fire as mediating power and transformer. Therefore let us do this, i.e., our work of practicing Yajnya fires, with all love, mercy. It is His will and His will be done. Aum.

[Note: Yajnya, Homa are Sanskrit words used here synonymously. Yajnya means healing fires prepared under certain disciplines, specific bio-rhythmic conditions of the planet to heal the atmosphere. You heal the atmosphere and the atmosphere heals you. Agnihotra is the basic Yajnya tuned to sunrise, sunset wherein a copper pyramid is used to intensify the healing energies.

Shree is the entity who revealed this Kriya Yoga now and of which Agnihotra is the basic Kriya (action).]

Sri Lanka Bees Dying

4 An article headlined Sri Lanka Bees Threatened outlines the story of an insect that carries a disease "which threatens to wipe out bees in Sri Lanka." The insects called Varova Jacobsoni of Varova Mite enter the body of the bee and suck the body fluid until the bee dies in a few days. While in the body the insects multiply and one mite is enough to infect a colony of bees in a few months.

The subject of bees and the negative effects of pollution on them is not a new subject for Satsang readers. For many years articles and revelations have appeared outlining a time that would come when all agriculture would be endangered as pollution and other ecological disturbances caused immense problems to bees.

In a 38-page article called "The Pesticide Dilemma" National Geographic magazine describes how "America's bounty from farm and forest rests on careful use of a billion pounds a year of insect and weed killers." Then it asks, "How great are the risks of poisoning ourselves and our environment?" The killing effects on bees are covered at length.

Though the article is a bit old by some standards (February, 1980) the fact that it took the magazine more than a year to produce the article and also that "Seldom has such a project been as thoroughly researched and checked with industry, government, medical and academic experts" combined with some recent developments make mentioning of it timely.

According to the article honeybees pollenate fruits, vegetables and other crops that comprise one-third of our diet; even dairy cattle eat alfalfa pollinated by bees. "Pesticides annually destroy or damage more than 400,000 colonies, however, and some bee experts worry about a future 'pollenation crisis.'"

To mention the problem without offering a solution would be shirking our responsibility. Homa Therapy Farming Bulletin #7 published by Agnihotra University (Washington, D.C.) in 1981 states:

Bees are attracted to Homa atmosphere as the amount of energy they receive from Agnihotra fire helps their ability to perform at a greater level of efficiency. When this is translated to pollination they can help to increase the yield of crops. This is especially true with corn, tomatoes, berries, fruit and the like.

Inborn in the honeybee are certain hormones that are produced solely in Yajnya atmosphere. So it is a foreign subject to anything science has encountered so far in this respect. These hormones help the nutritional levels yielded in vegetables and fruits to yield at faster rates.

One organic farmer in Illinois refuses to use any pesticides on his 520-acre farm. He not only harvests as much per acre as his neighbors who spray pesticides but his crops can be sold at a higher rate because they are grown without chemicals. But money, says National Geographic, is not his sole motive. "A few of my neighbors share my belief that 'as you sow, so shall you reap' and if you sow pesticides, you reap poison." Isn't this a clear statement hinting at true integration of the so-called spiritual with material? Killing, whether it be soldiers on the battlefield or insects on the farm, is not without its Karmic debts. If we grow more crops and make more money using chemicals and simply have to turn around and spend the money on treatment and cures for cancer—which many feel is related to the burgeoning use of chemical agriculture—what have we saved?

Also highlighted is the problem of the "super-bug," the growing number of insects that have become immune to dozens of supposedly lethal insecticides and whose offspring thereby live at will through the orchards and fields of the country. Satsang has written in the past of this problem.

Homa Therapy farming methods offer anyone an easy, inexpensive way to grow attractive and most important, healthy food free from worry of side effects of chemical fertilizers, pesticides, insecticides, etc. Homa makes these chemicals unnecessary. Harmful insects go away; beneficial insects thrive.

On a larger scale it is time for controlled experimentation to take place so that both private and governmental interests can learn of the inestimable value Homa has for alleviation of food shortage, malnutrition and famine.

It is so simple. Sunrise and sunset Agnihotra, four hours daily Om Tryambakam Homa and 24-hour Homa on Full Moon and No Moon Days are all that is required. Total expenditure is less than thirty dollars per month. Total time is only about seven man-days a month for up to 200 acres of land.

Until we learn to live in harmony with nature, our efforts are doomed. Homa is a method which not only is harmonious with nature but also does not force any monetary compromises. In fact it is the contrary. Even looked at from a purely financial perspective, Homa affords the opportunity to increase profits greatly. Again it is simple. No expenditures on pesticides, insecticides, etc. are necessary yet quality and quantity of harvests increase.

PLANTS AND VIBRATIONS

At the "Let's Share It Together" festival in New Market, Virginia I met Mr. A. P. Thomson, one of the pioneers of modern biological (Organic) farming in U.S.A. He is the founder of an organization called Friends of the Farm, which teaches biological farming, and also of the Virginia Association of Biological Farmers.

When I talked to Mr. Thomson about how Agnihotra Homa affects subtle energy, which in turn helps plants to grow and deters pests, he was not at all surprised. He explained the following to me.

When a plant is sick, it may not look sick but it sends out bad vibrations. Every insect has a job to do. Insects have super-sophisticated radar systems which pick up the various vibrations from the plants. Those insects which are programmed to destroy sick plants detect their vibrations, go lay their eggs on the sick plants and thus destroy them. Plants grown with chemical fertilizers are especially prone to insect attack because of the vibrations they emanate.

He further commented that everything is interconnected. We are walking energy, balls of energy. Love is everything that is. Love is God.

When I appeared surprised at how well his statements fit in with what Satsang has been saying all along he said, "Truth is the same whether I say it, you say it or she says it. No one can stop Truth."

FROM SATSANG CORRESPONDENCE

Thanks for your kind letter I have received several weeks ago. I have got via W. the copper pyramid for Agnihotra. We are lighting Agnihotra fire twice a day. It's wonderful. We are all well. My wife and daughter are very grateful to you.

The longer letter is waiting some months for its sending. I hope you receive this one soon. The disagreeable circumstances are not so nasty in the Homa Therapy atmosphere. The best wishes.

With gratefulness

Homa at New York Rally

Yajnya, Inc. a New York based nonprofit organization dedicated to the mass performance of Homa (Yajnya) decided to expose the anti-nuclear rally in June to the peaceful and calming atmosphere of Yajnya fire. They soon discovered that others had similar ideas. Though not interested in politics, the opportunity to show Homa to a large gathering of people should not be missed.

When this group arrived at the Great Lawn in Central Park, New York early morning of June 12, almost immediately they ran into Rommell, another Agnihotri who was already there performing the Om Tryambakam Homa.

The Homa was subsequently moved to a prearranged location near a large banner which appropriately read "Meditation For Survival," a contact point for other Agnihotris who would be joining the Yajnya periodically.

Later in the afternoon another group from Monroe, N.Y. which has its counterpart in California and a center in New York City came doing Om Tryambakam Homa calling it "Vedic Fire Ceremony for World Peace." It happened that these people had marched from the starting point (United Nations) with the peaceful demonstrators whose numbers grew to over half a million by the time they reached the Great Lawn—with their Homa fire burning all the time. Though politically neutral they were happy to be in the midst of the large gathering to spread the important message of Homa for peace of mind.

Thus converging from three separate directions the rally was getting the Yajnya purification input with its vibrations of love that ultimately merged into one.

Those familiar with some of the inherent effects of Homa were not surprised that following a gathering larger than the population of many major cities there was no litter strewn about the park, no arrests and so much peace.

As stated in the ancient Vedic science of farming, Yajnya (Homa) fire accelerates the growth of cells in plants. The plants thereby become happy and effect peoples' minds in a positive manner. The trees and people in Central Park seemed very happy with Yajnya.

I want to share the New York June 12 demonstration, almost one million in the parade. It was so peaceful.

Two adults, two children and myself walked in the park carrying the fire and doing Homa in the copper pyramid and carrying a banner stating "Vedic fire ceremony for World Peace." People were so nice to us. They were drawn by the fire and accepted our answer. "It is for World Peace, to heal the atmosphere, to heal the planet and heal ourselves."

We handed out over seven hundred pieces of literature. At one point while I was holding an end of the banner I looked across the fire and was amazed at the energy pouring out of it.

When it was my turn to carry the fire my mind remembered the apprehension I felt coming to New York with its pollution and nuclear plants. Then suddenly I was flooded with a sense of well-being. We really are turning the world around and that's what we must now start focusing on and creating a world that is worthy for everyone.

Sunrise/sunset Agnihotra fire has proved to be so healing I can meditate with it and experience the most extraordinary healing. The Kundalini energy is flowing full and is doing heavy interior cleansing.

[Note: Agnihotra fire is practiced exactly at sunrise and sunset when special energies manifest in the atmosphere. Agnihotra heals the atmosphere. In Agnihotra atmosphere plants grow profusely and yield abundantly. In Germany people use Agnihotra ash ointment as medicine for skin disease and several other purposes.
